

ACTIVITY PREDICTION MODELS

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A method predicts at least one property of a candidate molecule. A set of reference molecules is classified as either possessing or not possessing at least one property. A subset of the molecules is selected from which a plurality of marker molecules is chosen. The marker molecules are used to predict whether the candidate molecule possesses at least one property.

10

S:\DOCS\TRA\TRA-5753.DOC
071501